PRESS RELEASE | 02 JUNE 2016

Last Trading Day of Weng Fine Art Shares on 28 June 2016

Deutsche Börse AG has confirmed the termination of Weng Fine Art's listing on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange (Entry Standard). The last trading day of the shares on the Entry Standard will thus be on 28 June 2016. Shareholders may sell their shares only up to that date on the Entry Standard.

However, it is possible that Weng Fine Art shares continue to be traded on other exchange or off-exchange trading platforms. In the continuance of such trading, however, the Company has no control – it has not issued any requests for inclusion or for continued quotation.

The administrative and financial rights of the Company's shareholders will remain unchanged after the delisting in Frankfurt. In particular, the shareholders are fully entitled to dividends.

Weng Fine Art AG will continue to acquire shares on the stock exchange through its buyback program of 22 January 2016. The buyback program is capped to a maximum amount of 250,000 shares. Currently, the treasury stock is 192,374 shares (as of 31 May).

The majority shareholder and CEO of the Company have not acquired any shares in connection with the delisting and do not have any plans to increase their shareholding.
